AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Whyatt at the Grand.
Mrs. Whyatt, the talented wife of the author of "For Fair I'll Fight," who has been seen with her husband at the Grand to-night, began her stage career in comic opera. Finding this not suited to her taste and temperament, Mrs. Whyatt adopted the legitimate, and became identified with three or four of the very best road companies. She was then known as Mrs. Knowlton, and two seasons ago she accepted an engagement as leading woman in George Holland's Grand Avenue Theater Stock Company at Philadelphia, and it was while in that splendid company that she was enabled to prove herself worthy of a high place in the ranks of true artists. Mrs. Whyatt has played most of the leading roles in standard plays, and in every instance her endeavors were marked with exceptional intelligence and fine dramatic taste. She is more than attractive, with decided grace, and her voice is particularly expressive. At Virginia Belmont in her first play Mrs. Whyatt has a congenial part, and from the first she has been just to a character requiring delicate skill. She is intensely dramatic without being aware of it, and her record of her doings are strong of the opinion that one day in the near future she will be the star of a new drama.

Little Whyatt assumes an important and difficult character role in Mrs. Whyatt's charming play, one of the most talented child actors on the stage.

Skinner's Thanksgiving Engagement.
During the coming Thanksgiving engagement of Otis Skinner at the Grand Opera House he will present no less than five different plays, two of the romantic school and the other three Shakespearean. The engagement will open Thanksgiving night with "His Grace the Grumbler," which is put on in a most elaborate manner, both as regards scenery and costumes. At the evening performance Skinner will present his new play, "Villon the Vagabond," which has been one of the successes of the year. Both scenery and costumes are very fine, as well as handsome. On Friday evening Mr. Skinner's many admirers will have an opportunity to see him in Shakespeare's greatest tragedy, "Hamlet," and it is said by those who have seen his delineation of this character that it is very scholarly and charming. At the matinee on Saturday afternoon Skinner will play "The Merchant of Venice," and on Saturday evening a double Shakespeare bill will be presented, the first of "Venice" and "Katherine and Petruchio," which is a condensation of the "Taming of the Shrew" and "Katherine and Petruchio." The advance sale of the tickets for the entire engagement is very large, and the advance sale of the tickets for the entire engagement is very large, and the advance sale of the tickets for the entire engagement is very large.

Notes of the Stage.
Hoyt's new play, "A Contented Woman," played to over 1000 at Kansas City last night. It opened at Louisville last night to a crowded house, and will come from there here Monday.

"Hoss and Hoss" Reed and Collier's old "Hoss" comes to the Park to-day for half the week.

Gus Hill's Novelties will be at the Empire all week-long show, Petrusco and all.

A scene of great enthusiasm occurred at the Harlem Opera House after the curtain had finally fallen on Miss Irwin's opening engagement in "Widow Jones." Miss Irwin was called out, and in response to her announcement that she had done everything she could to please her audience, the crowd called for "The New Bull." In response to this demand the curtain was run up, and the second time, there was a new melody for the second time. There has not been a hit in any theater except that that scored by Miss Irwin in Harlem, and she has been the cause of the success of the New York Union.

Frederic Bryson has concluded to locate permanently in New York city and devote his attention exclusively to the production of new plays. Mr. Bryson has directed a dramatic presentation than any other man now alive, and has been the cause of much about this kind of work as anybody in the world.

William A. Brady is making elaborate preparations for the production of a new play, "A Naval Cadet." McKee Rankin has been engaged to superintend the production and to play the important role of a young sailor.

The Anti-Toxin Successful.
Dr. Dunning of the City Dispensary, reported yesterday that the four-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mary Tribb, living at 32 West McCarty street, who was treated for infantile diphtheria with anti-toxin Saturday, is now recovering, and is every respect and in a fair way to recover. It is said the respiration is considerably better and from present indications it will not be necessary to repeat the injection of anti-toxin.

Mrs. Nowlan Still Lives.
It was reported early last evening that Mrs. Nowlan, the colored woman who was so horribly burned in the fire at North and

GOOD BUSINESS YEAR

MERCHANTS ON SOUTH MERIDIAN STREET MAKE LITTLE COMPLAINT.

Expression from Men in Various Lines—Hardware Merchants Have Profited—The Liquor Trade.

Said one of the oldest in trade of the wholesale merchants on South Meridian street: "I have acquired a good deal of the business this year, and the general expression is that while it has been more spasmodic, the trade of one week being large and the next not so good, yet the aggregate up to this time, they find that it is considerably in excess of the first ten months of 1894. In some lines the mildness of the fall weather has checked trade somewhat."

Mr. Murphy, of Murphy, Hibben & Co., says his business has been considerably in excess of that of last year in the amount of goods sold, and, of course, the advance in prices is still more favorable, yet dry goods of all kinds are selling very close.

A. Kiefer, wholesale druggist, says his business has been very satisfactory, and he thinks his competitors have done well. The growth of this class of business in Indianapolis has been remarkable, and on the whole a profitable one to those engaged in it.

Mr. Daggett, of Daggett & Co., states that, with the exception of a few weeks, his business has been better than the average, and that their hold trade bids fair to be the largest in the history of their business. This is another line of business that has expanded remarkably. At the present time the three leading houses are converting sixty to seventy barrels of salt into a barrel of glass, and the firm this year in one shipment received 120 barrels of the best glass.

The crockery and glassware houses have had a good year, especially in the sale of fruit jars, glass jars having become in greater favor for family canning of fruits.

Mr. Holliday, of Holliday & Co., says that their house has this season sold eleven thousand gross of fruit jars, and in other lines of goods their trade has been very satisfactory.

The hardware merchants have had a good year. There has been a good deal of building in progress, and the hardware business has been correspondingly increased. The manufacturers have created a better demand for hardware of different descriptions. Mr. Van Camp says he has no room for complaint. When iron and steel began to advance his firm had a good stock on hand, and he was able to meet the demand.

Probably there is no line of business on South Meridian street that has done so well in volume from year to year as that of the boot and shoe merchants. This is evident from the fact that the sales of boots and shoes are larger than in any year since the war. The weather has been very favorable, and the sales of boots and shoes are larger than in any year since the war. The weather has been very favorable, and the sales of boots and shoes are larger than in any year since the war.

Mr. Taylor & Smith, leather dealers, says their business has been very satisfactory. They have sold more belting, for instance, than in either of three former years. Mr. Taylor & Smith, leather dealers, says their business has been very satisfactory. They have sold more belting, for instance, than in either of three former years.

The wholesale millinery report their trade as very good. There are now three large millinery houses, there being one more this year to divide the business. The cause of this is the new business which has come to this trade center will offset the additional house's business. The millinery trade is now going on as usual another year.

The Springfield, Ind., millinery trade is very satisfactory. The weather in late September and early October was very favorable, and the sales of hats and millinery goods were very satisfactory. The weather in late September and early October was very favorable, and the sales of hats and millinery goods were very satisfactory.

The business of Indianapolis, however, is in the grocery line. Indianapolis is now a city of grocers. There are now three large grocery houses, there being one more this year to divide the business. The cause of this is the new business which has come to this trade center will offset the additional house's business. The grocery trade is now going on as usual another year.

A SAD TALE TOLD BY A WILL.
The filing of the will of August Kullman, of the village of George S. West, in Indianapolis, yesterday, was a sad tale. The testator was a Methodist Episcopal minister, and was a man of great wealth. He was a man of great wealth, and was a man of great wealth. He was a man of great wealth, and was a man of great wealth.
